

Wrenbury Primary School Newsletter

17th April 2026

Welcome back! April has certainly been showing its true colours with a mix of sunshine and familiar April showers, but that hasn't stopped the children from embracing the great outdoors as part of our whole school theme: Our Changing World. As always, they have loved being outside — developing their map skills in geography, taking care of our environment by planting sweet peas in Little Wrens, and enjoying playtimes filled with laughter. One particular highlight has been our maypole sessions, which always look so wonderful and bring a real sense of joy and tradition to the playground. Although maypole won't be every lunchtime, I will try my best to be out there as much as possible as I know you enjoy it so much.

We also enjoyed an incredible performance from the Nantwich Concert Band during our music assembly. It was a fantastic opportunity to share the real joy of music and inspire the children by listening to live performances from talented musicians. We are keen to build on this by introducing 'Mystery Musicians' to join our Monday assemblies. If any parents would be interested in taking part and sharing their musical talents, please do let the office know — we would love to hear from you!

Science this summer term has been full of exciting investigations, with a particular focus on biology and plants. Year 2 have begun an experiment exploring what seeds need in order to germinate — we're all very curious to see which ones will grow and thrive.

Assembly:

This week, as part of our whole school theme, we learnt about the Bumblebee Conservation Trust. Our bumblebees are in decline and we want to save them!

We are going to work as a school team to earn our 'Bumblebee Friendly School' award. I know many of the children have already been bumblebee spotting and thinking of ways that they can support the bees.

Thank you...

A huge thank you to Thomasson Farms who kindly donated a bag of their top soil bio-bloom mix for our children. We have so many budding gardeners, not only those in gardening club but our children who enjoy Welly Wednesday and those who like to plant and take care of our environment at playtime. It was nice to see the children enjoy using it this week. If you'd like some for your own garden, please do take a look at their website:
